

Resource Augmentation Services

Overview

Resource Augmentation Services is designed to allow organizations to supplement their security expertise. By adding security expertise, at various levels from technical to executive, organizations can conduct a variety of security analyses including business programs, product selections and corporate services.

Most enterprises are affected by workload changes due to a variety of factors. These can include regulatory changes, infrastructure updates, mergers and acquisitions, extended employee absences, and employee losses. While larger departments can adapt to the changes more readily, the Assessment, IT Risk Management, and Security functions are typically smaller and more specialized, and thus the impact significantly greater.

Benefits

A company that reacts proactively to changes by supplementing security and audit functions can minimize any negative impacts these changes inflict upon the organization by ensuring the organization can continue performing all normal operations. By allowing Emagined Security Resource Augmentation to supplement your staff, it is possible to weather such times with no loss of integrity, accomplishment, or lapse in security. Furthermore, Emagined Security Resource Augmentation personnel can often help train existing staff with new systems management and architectures that are implemented. Emagined Security's Resource Augmentation can help save your company time, resources and money by filling the needs of the organization without a long drawn out employee search.

Emagined Security's Resource Augmentation Services can help save your company time and money by proactively assessing and improving your security programs. In addition, by using Emagined Security's Resource Augmentation Services, your organization can obtain the most accurate and unbiased evaluation of your strengths and vulnerabilities in the information security arena.

Description of Service

Emagined Security's Resource Augmentation Services can be responsible for conducting a variety of technical security analyses of programs, products and services, as your organization deems necessary. Emagined Security's Resource Augmentation Services can interview key personnel and review security services, products, and networks. Resource Augmentation Services range through the following:

- Project Management
- Resource Augmentation
- Web Application Development
- Implementation Services
- Analytics & Automation