Benefits

A mature security program provides an effective foundation for identifying and minimizing business risks and vulnerabilities when developing an information security strategy. The well-defined security program allows your company to implement technologies and procedures to secure your company assets in an efficient and cost effective manner.

The positive effects of a well-composed policy extend beyond the particulars of the written rules. Emagined Security's Security Programs & Policies strategy serves as both a security measure and as an enhancement of your company efficiency.

- Increase Consistency: Secure Policy strategy increases the level of security implemented across the company, lines of business, international offices, and other organizational structures.
- Enhance Productivity: Once implemented, a Secure Policy strategy will free your staff from the friction caused by questions that arise from unclear rules. Time that may otherwise be spent examining, guessing, and debating the guidelines can now be spent on more productive tasks. In addition, clear guidelines help remove many negative morale factors that can hamper staff performance.
- Reduce Liability: Because of its continuous nature, the threat of litigation can be as debilitating as a one-time loss in the courtroom. By clarifying your rules and ensuring that they comply with the law, you offer fewer opportunities for opponents to level accusations against you, helping you control the amount of time and effort you now spend on legal vigilance.
- Increase Security: At the information security level, a Secure Policy strategy strengthens any measures you take to protect your data.
- Increased Compliance: A Secure Policy strategy provides the foundation for compliance activities.

As a means of internal protection, your rules and guidelines ensure that information paths remain consistent and that your data remains in the right hands. As a means of external protection, your policies can provide a consistent plan for monitoring vital data.
